

I am very concerned about allowing the power companies to use power lines as RF radiators. I am not convinced that there has been enough serious consideration given to the harmful health affects that this new technology will have. I also do not believe what I hear as far as interference is concerned. I believe this technology will cause interference to many other services.